

To whom it may concern,

I have had the pleasure of working with Kasey McDonald as a part of her Real Estate Training Group national conference tour, and she has also conducted a number of training sessions for the Laing+Simmons property management teams.

On stage she is charismatic, enthusiastic and extremely knowledgeable. She is a committed property management professional with a great depth of understanding. But importantly she goes out of her way to support both her clients and anyone in her audience that needs that ongoing support.

The feedback we receive after her sessions is consistent, she is passionate, enthusiastic and always willing to offer advice and support to anyone who needs it.

The information she provides in relation to the property management industry is always considered and up to the minute as she manages to stay on top of the ever increasing amount of technology and new products in this space.
